Falmouth, Sept. 9.

THE 6th instant put in here the St. John of Havre de Grace, in company of two other Vessels, who came about two months since from Newfoundland, where they have had a very good season for Fishing. The next day we had an account, that the St. Ann of St. Malo's, burthen 30 Tuns, was cast away within a League of the Lizard; all the men except the Carpenter were saved.

Pendennis Sept. 9. The last week came into this Harbor the Charles, mounted with 13 Guns, and 20 Men, Henry Dun Commander, the Mediterranean of 22 Guns, and 26 Men, John Gunnel Commander, the Advice of 22 Guns, and 40 Men, William Skinner Commander, the ..... of 12 Guns, and 22 men, Cornelis Harley, the Samaritan of 8 Guns, and 14 men, Nicholas Peasy Commander, all belonging to Yarmouth, and bound home and for London from the Streights. They are still here.

Plimouth, Sept. 10. In our last we told you that about 20 Sail of Merchantment were arrived here from several Ports in the Mediterranean, under the Convoy of the Newcastle and Portsmouth Frigats. This evening came into this Port another Fleet of Merchant Ships, homeward bound from the Streights under the command of Captain Wilshire, in the ..... Frigat.

Naples, Aug. 25. The Marquis de Villa-fiel, who commands the Kings Naval Force in Sicily, having received orders to embark with all speed all the Troops in that Kingdom, which are designed to be transported to Catalonia, and to part with them without any loss of time for Barcelona; he had sent to acquaint the Marquis de los Velez, our Viceroy, that he had pursued the said orders so far, as to be ready to set sail, without being able to expect the Gallies of this Kingdom; whereupon our Viceroy has given orders to the Officers of the Troops, that are likewise to part from hence to Catalonia, to embark immediately on the Gallies and Tartanes who have lay'n ready to receive them since Thursday last. The Count de Barbo purposes to take this opportunity to return for Spain, having it seems several pretentions to sollicite at the Court. He will likewise present to the King a design of a Cittadel to be built at Messina, for the securing the peace and obedience of that City, from whence we have advice, that the Prince de Gonzague, Viceroy of that Kingdom, had disarmed the Inhabitants, and obliged them to bring their Arms into one of the Forts. Our Viceroy is sending most of his Goods for Spain, being to leave this Government very suddenly.

Venice, Sept. 3. The Chevalier Morosini, Ambassador from this State at Constantinople, having compleated the usual term in that station, and desiring leave to return home, the Senate hath made choice of Signior Mocenigo to succeed him, who will make the more haste to relieve the said Chevalier Morosini, for that the last Letters from Constantinople told us, that he was very ill, and that he was retired from thence to take the Air of the Conntry. The Senate hath caused the Spanish Vessels which were taken in the Golfe to be discharged, but those belonging to the Subjects of the Pope, are still under Arrest, because of the differences that are depending between the Pope and this State.

Vienna, Sept 8. On Monday last their Imperial Majesties and the whole Court went from hence to Eberstorf, where they will continue about three weeks. The next day arrived here an Envoy from the Elector of Brandenburg, who went immediately to Eberstorf, where he hath had Audience of the Emperor, and upon what he represented, an Express was dispatched to Nimeguen, with orders, as is said, to the Imperial Ambassadors there, to declare, That his Imperial Majesty will not make a Peace with France without the participation and inclusion of his Allies. General Wurmb is recalled out of Hungary, where the sole command of the Emperors Forces is left to General Leslie, who continues to pursue the Rebels very closely, and, as is said, has so dispersed them, that there appears at present not any considerable Body of them in the Field.

Hamburg, Sept. 16. We are here in great expectation to hear what success the Enterprize upon Rugen will have, which will very much influence the affairs of these Northern quarters. The last Letters we had from Wolgast only say, that they continued there to make preparations necessary for the said Enterprise; that most of the Troops that were to be employed in it were embarked, &c.

Strasburg, Sept. 12. There hardly passes a day but there comes some Boats down the Rhine with Provisions from Brisac, for the French Troops that are in the two Forts on this side the River, where they fortifie themselves every day more and more. On Friday last the Imperial Commissary mustered the Garison here, and afterwards gave them half a months Pay; besides which the City allows 10 pence a day to such as work on the Fortifications. The French, as we hear, are providing great Magazines at Schlestadt, Benfeldt, Saverne, and Busweiler; and this day the news in Town is, that the Mareschal de Crequi is coming back this way, and that his Vanguard is already arrived at Passenbouen. Prince Herman of Baden, who has been extream ill here, begins to mend.

Cologne, Sept. 16. The Letters we receive from the Imperial Army, which continue encamped near Philipsburg, tell us, that the Duke of Lorrain had commanded the Militia of the Dutchy of Wirtemberg to supply the place of the Imperial Garison at Offemburg, which was drawn from thence to be put into Strasburg. The advices we have from the Mareschal de Crequi's Camp, are, that the Army did decamp the 11 instant from Weissembourg, and encamped again between Minfelden and Langenkandel, and that the Mareschal de Crequi had sent out several strong parties
